Today, as never before, the nation's educational institutions are being challenged for solutions to newly emerging problems resulting from technological, sociological, and scientific changes. In order to solve these problems, school districts must find new ways to apply educational methods and procedures.

For many years, the Los Angeles City Schools have recognized the differences in individual pupils, and provisions have been made to provide meaningful assistance to these pupils in a variety of methods.

The Los Angeles City Schools' Volunteer Program described in this publication is one approach to two basic goals of our times—that of extending to every child the best possible educational opportunities, that he may achieve to his optimum potential, and making an increasing number of our citizens aware that education must be a chief national priority.

School Volunteers have brought a new dimension into the Los Angeles City Schools. Implementation of the program has resulted in a new means for effective, two-way communication between community's professional educational staff and its citizens, a communication which has resulted in a greater understanding and acceptance of sound educational programs.

But most importantly, School Volunteers have brought enthusiasm, skills, talents, warm understanding, and generosity to the support of the classroom teacher—and to our pupils.

JACK . CROWTHER

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Dear School Administrator:

School Volunteers are carefully-selected citizens who are sincerely interested in the children of our Los Angeles City Schools. School Volunteers can be of valuable help to you and your staff. Many school volunteers are assisting classroom teachers of many tasks and pressures, so that teachers may devote their time more fully to teaching. School volunteers also enrich the educational process for the individual child.

The classroom teacher is responsible for the students and their activities. The school volunteer is to assist the teacher in any way the teacher feels will be of help. The school volunteer always works under the guidance and supervision of the teacher. The relationship between the school volunteer and the teacher is a professional one—one of mutual respect and confidence.

The following pages are suggested ways that may assist in helping your School Volunteer Program to work smoothly. Any suggestions that you may have which will improve or enhance our program will be greatly accepted and appreciated.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Sarah A. Davis, Supervisor Volunteer & Tutorial Services

RECRUITMENT

SCHOOL VOLUNTEERS

RECRUITING - SCHOOL VOLUNTEERS

Los Angeles City School Volunteers are recruited from a variety of sources—through organizations actively involved in the Los Angeles City School Volunteer Program, by other volunteers, by school principals, by teachers, or by learning of the School Volunteer Program from newspapers, radio, television or from one of their friends. Sponsoring organizations, principals and school staff, are encouraged to conduct intensive recruitment campaigns.

The objective of recruiting is to fill slots with bodies. However, a second objective should be to fill the slots with the best possible bodies. How the objectives are met depends on the manner in which recruiting is handled.

When a volunteer is recruited by a sponsoring group, each group or school arranges to help the volunteer fill out the proper application blank, and interviews the applicant. Persons who apply directly through the School Volunteer Office instead of being recruited by a sponsoring group or school, will be helped and interviewed by appropriate School Volunteer committee members. Information on this service can be obtained by calling the School Volunteer Office, 628-2284, ext. 20.

Flexibility is the keynote to success of the School Volunteer Program. It is this ability to adapt program to needs that makes imperative a careful selection procedure to assure recruitment and assignment of Volunteers with appropriate skills and characteristics to schools where they will be of optimum service.

PERSONAL QUALIFICATIONS - SCHOOL VOLUNTEERS

What kind of individual should the School Volunteer be? If a "magic" formula could be devised, the ideal School Volunteer should:

- * Be a friendly, reliable, flexible, young or mature adult.
- * Love children.
- * Have a good professional attitude, interest and enthusiasm for working with young people and have ability to work cooperatively with school personnel.
- * Have good health and good moral character.
- * Adequate communication skills. An important exception to this qualification is the volunteer, who, though she may know very little English, can converse with a non-English speaking student in his own language and make his school environment more understandable to him. Also, we have some very effective committees making educational materials and giving eneral volunteer service where the majority of the members speak only service.

- * Recognize that educational handicaps contribute largely to the waste of our human resources.
- * Feel deeply an obligation as a citizen to support and help the schools in their effort to educate each child to the limit of his capacity.
- * Already have--or be willing to acquire--skills that are needed in the schools.
- * Have talents that can enrich the school program.
- * Simply have time and a willingness to serve.

SELECTING - SCHOOL VOLUNTEERS

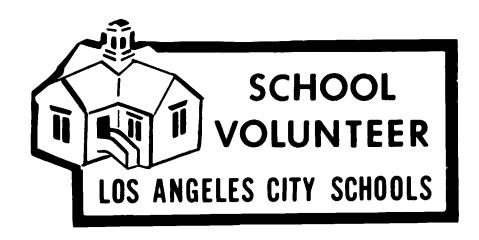

Each person wishing to serve as a School Volunteer is asked to complete an application form. Additionally, each applicant must be willing to obtain a chest x-ray and must complete a pre-service orientation class offered by the school or the School Volunteers, Office of Urban Affairs.

The selection process is carried out by the sponsoring organization or school to which a person has been referred. Following completion of the application, applicants are interviewed by their sponsoring organization, school, or volunteer interviewers.

Applications and interviewers' reports are then referred to the School Volunteer Office, Office of Urban Afrairs, or the school, for completion of pre-service orientation and assignment procedures.

Satisfactory School Volunteer recruitment activity is the seedbed for growth, not only of a democratic society, but of an individual life. The activities of the Los Angeles City School Volunteer Program is planned for those citizens who are interested in doing something to make their own lives and the lives of children more pleasurable.

Recruitment Letter

Dear Parents,

Our boys and girls are our most important resources. We share a common purpose--educating children. Many pupils need individualized attention. You have had many and varied experiences which would help our children grow. We feel that many of our children could be helped by you here at school. We need volunteer teacher aides to help the children directly and or to help the teacher in ways which will allow the teacher to provide more individualized attention to her class or pupils.

We have attached a list of duties that can be done by volunteer teacher aides. If you have special abilities or interests which have not been listed, please insert your interest on the lines provided at the bottom of the page.

We would like to invite you to a brief meeting on ______ to discuss the teacher volunteer program in more detail. Please let us know if you can attend.

Yours truly,

PRE-SERVICE ORIENTATION

AND

IN-SERVICE TRAINING FOR SCHOOL VOLUNTEERS

FALL 1968

PRE-SERVICE ORIENTATION FOR SCHOOL VOLUNTEERS

A prime ingredient to the success of the School Volunteer Program is a happy, well-informed Volunteer, knowledgeable about the program's objectives and of the responsibilities of the "partners" in the team—the principal, teacher, volunteer, and pupil.

Accordingly, it is imperative that each prospective Volunteer (unless the interviewer refers the applicant to a different procedure, such as that used for Science Center applicants) complete a pre-service orientation program developed by the School Volunteer Executive Board, Office of Urban Affairs staff, and Elementary and Secondary School Personnel.

The Pre-Service Orientation Program consists of a one-day session (9:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.). They are usually scheduled once a month throughout the school year so that new Volunteers will not have to wait long for assignment. Interviewers are present to interview all new recruits. In addition, if the above-mentioned application and interview forms are received in time, the office staff will mail the applicant an official invitation to the Pre-Service Orientation.

"PORTABLE" PRE-SERVICE ORIENTATION

Occasionally sponsors or schools recruit many volunteers who would find it difficult to travel to one of our centralized Pre-Service Orientation programs. We have developed a "portable" program to take to these volunteers and schools. This program cannot take the place of the regular orientation, but it can be very satisfactory. It is desirable that five or more volunteers be recruited when requesting this service. For more information, call Supervisor, Volunteer & Tutorial Services, Office of Urban Affairs - 628-2284 ext. 20.

Schools may assume responsibility and give their own Pre-Service Orientation under the direction of the School Administrator.

IN-SERVICE TRAINING

The Adult Education Division and the Office of Urban Affairs conduct continuous in-service training classes for all active school volunteers during the school year. Classes are designed for volunteers who are interested in learning methods and techniques in helping children with reading, math, and language arts. Other classes are provided to teach volunteers how to make educational aids and how to operate various machines.

In addition, it is desirable that each school conduct an "on going training" meeting for volunteers.

Announcements of all In-Service Training will be mailed to each school and all school volunteers registered in the Office of Urban Affairs. Further information may be obtained by calling 628-2284 ext. 20.

ADMINISTRATION AND ORGANIZATION OF A SCHOOL VOLUNTEER PROGRAM

SCHOOL VOLUNTEER SERVICES STRUCTURE

THE SCHOOL . . . AND THE VOLUNTEER PROGRAM

The School Volunteer Program must be responsible to the needs and resources of each particular school. Only the school administrator and his staff can determine those needs and resources, although staff of the Urban Affairs Office and representatives of the School Executive Board are available for consultation at the request of individual school administrators.

The school principal, as the chief administrative officer in charge of the school's staff, educational program, and school plant, will serve as the general supervisor of all Volunteers at a specific school. The School Volunteer Chairman—a Volunteer—will also be under direct supervision of the principal. It is recommended that schools with a volunteer program select a volunteer teacher—co-ordinator from the professional staff of the school, to help organize and supervise the program.

ADMINISTRATION OF A VOLUNTEER PROGRAM WITHIN A SCHOOL

- 1. Acceptance, direction, and termination of Volunteer programs are the responsibility of the principal, and the principal should organize the Volunteer Program within the school. Preparations for the starting of a program should include:

RESPONSIBILITIES OF TEACHERS WHO USE SCHOOL VOLUNTEERS REGULARLY IN OR OUT OF THE CLASSROOM

The role of the volunteer in the school is a very important one. As "the significant other in a helping relationship", a school volunteer can make a very valuable contribution to our educational program. The effect reness of the volunteer, however, depends largely upon the skill with which the classroom teacher guides her. The attitude of the teacher towards the volunteer can encourage and inspire, or it can discourage and defeat. Those who have volunteered their time and efforts on behalf of children have made a concrete demonstration of their dedication and concern. Gifts of time and service must be repaid, not only with gratitude, but through the volunteer's own sense of achievement. A school volunteer must feel that her needs as a growing, learning, person are being met. Otherwise, enthusiasm and involvement will dwindle and the volunteer will become a "drop out".

The success of the Los Angeles School Volunteer Program depends in large measure upon the teacher's skill in the development of human potential at all ages. The volunteers who will be serving in our schools will vary as greatly in their strengths and weaknesses as the children themselves. Hopefully, we can create in our Los Angeles City Schools a climate which will nurture the growth of each person who becomes a part of this program. The following suggestions are presented with this objective in mind.

Most school volunteers approach their first days of participation with mixed feelings. Interest, enthusiasm and participation combine with quite normal anxieties about what will be expected of them, whether they will be able to succeed in working with a group of children, and how the teachers will feel about them.

Experience with volunteers suggests that they can be more quickly oriented to the school, make more successful contacts with children, and become helpful assistants sooner if:

- a. They feel welcome and accepted.
- b. They have active leadership and guidance from the teacher.
- c. They know what is expected of them.
- d. They have help in establishing relationships with children.
- e. They have the information they need to carry out their responsibilities.
- f. They are busy and actively involved in the program.

The classroom teacher is a key person in guiding the practical learning experiences of volunteers. The following suggestions are intended to help make the best use of the teacher's supervision within the limits of the time available.

- 1. Try to arrange an informal session with the Volunteer at an early date to discuss the program, and what to expect of the children. Orientate the volunteer in the kind of help you would like from her. Try to have a little variety in the tasks assigned, but use her services in any way that will be of help to you and the children. The school volunteer should be trained to assist in an ever increasing variety of activities.
- 2. Plan the work you want the volunteer to do before she comes to your room. Create early opportunities for volunteer contacts with individual children. Be specific in your directions.
- 3. If you are not going to need your volunteer at her regular time, or if you are going to be away from school, advise the School Volunteer Chairman in advance so that arrangements can be made to utilize her elsewhere.
- 4. If you do not need your volunteer for the full time, release her so that she can help another teacher.
- 5. Brief your School Volunteer in fire drill and dismissal procedures. Introduce her to the teacher next door.
- 6. Anticipate information volunteers will need to carry out assigned duties. Show them where to find materials, how to set up an activity, what books to use with a group, etc. Tell them what limits to set, what special needs. Individual children have and what to expect of the children.
- 7. Avoid assigning responsibilities beyond a volunteer's ability. Do not leave a volunteer with too many children or too large an area to supervise.
- 8. Provide increasing responsibility as volunteers are ready.
- 9. Expect volunteers to be businesslike about attendance; being on time, staying with assigned responsibilities, and constantly accepting direction from the teacher. Although the job is a volunteer one, the commitment is professional.

The School Volunteers who feel themselves partners of the teachers are doing a public relations job and are carrying to the community an appreciation of the good job being done by school people.

Dear:

Our school is planning a tutoring program where certain selected 5th and 6th grade boys and girls would help instruct 1st and 2nd grade pupils. This experience would foster desirable social attitudes for the older children and at the same time assist younger children in the development of better skills in reading and writing.

Your child, , has been recommended as one of the tutors. All children selected as tutors must be in the upper third of their class academically and must be capable of making up any regular classroom work missed while tutoring.

It is expected that they would work with one primary child three periods a week, one-half hour each period. For example, a tutor would leave his regular classroom on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 2:30 - 3:00, or from 9:00 - 9:30 to go to a primary room and help a child in his reading.

The upper grade tutor would also confer with the primary teacher once a week (either before or after school) to discuss the pupil's progress. The pupil's teacher would make continued recommendations as to the kinds of activities he should conduct.

Please return the tear-off below indicating your approval of your child's participation in this activity.

			Sincerely,
			Principal
